FROM the prominence given by government organs to the speech of Dr. Montague, secretary of state, delivered near the close of the tariff debate in parliament, there would appear to be some truth in the rumor of an attempt by a certain wing of the party to replace Bowell as first minister by Montague. Certainly the speech, which was merely a string of chestnuts, was not boomed on account of its merits as a political argument.

ON Tuesday morning Messrs. Stewart and Renaud started a wild duck in the rear of the Massey-Harris warehouse. As she flew away they noticed seven young ducks a couple of weeks old, which she had been caring for. Mr. Stewart took four of the young ones and Mr. Renaud three. The four taken by Mr. Stewart he handed over to Ralph Bellamy, who placed them with a Brahmin hen that had seven chickens about the same age as the ducks. The hen took to them as though they were her own offspring, and they to her. There was no nest where the ducks were found and it is supposed that they had been hatched near some small pond or swamp, which had dried up, and that the mother was leading her brood to water by easy stages.

THREE races are on this afternoon on the race course. A mile trot, best two in three, for $20 a side between A. McNicoll's "Nellie" and M. Connor's "Black." Quarter mile running, $27.50 a side between Marriaggi's "Jack Rabbit" and Hostyn's "Rattler." Three hundred yards race $25 a side between Hillard's "Little Brown" and D. Maloney's "Buckskin."

THE estimate of cost of the proposed spur road furnished by Mr. Bruce, C. E., is not in detail, but fixes the limit at $4,000 complete. This estimate is subject to a possible reduction of $6,000 by the use of second hand rails, and a further reduction of five to ten per cent. on the road bed, bringing the figure somewhere between $30,000 and $35,000.

D. MALONEY, M. L. A. for St. Albert, has procured a grader for use on the roads in that district. It arrived on Thursday's train and is now at work on the road between St. Albert and Edmonton, and works on the principle of a great plow and is drawn by five teams of horses. Five or more furrows are plowed on each side of the road way with brush breakers and the soil thus loosened is forced into the centre of the roadway by the grader. The roadway is rounded gently from each side to the centre. The St. Albert road is being given a width of 24 feet from side to side.

A TOUCHING reminder of home in the shape of a pretty sample of the Canada thistle has been laid on the table of this office by J. Meneely, of Poplar lake. It was found growing on Kinistino avenue in town near its junction with Jasper avenue, and was one of a fine healthy patch of growing plants. This is the third season these thistles have been noticed growing at the same place. There is a supposition that these thistles will not stand the Northwest winter, but it is evidently a great mistake. They have been cut down regularly every season and not allowed to go to seed, but still the patch is increasing in size.

A PARTY of three miners have rigged up a mining apparatus to work by steam, a five horse power engine being used. The engine sits on a small scow and runs two sets of elevators, one raising water and the other gravel. The washing apparatus is similar to that used in working by hand, but on a larger scale. The gravel is raised by being caught by the steel buckets of the gravel elevator. The machinery is of their own design and construction, they having been working at it during the winter. They are now ready for active operations and will work on the bar at the mouth of the White Mud opposite the Miners' flat.

FRASER & CO. began sawing to-day.

CHATELLE, the Listowell murderer, has been hanged.

MAJOR BENNETT, of the Salvation army, arrived on Thursday's train and leaves tomorrow.

C. N. RAYMOND, of the west end of town, had young potatoes fit for us from his garden yesterday. Also peas in blossom.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, JUNE 10th, 1895.

WHO OWNS THIS COUNTRY?

An item appearing in another column, taken from the Free Press announces guardedly a rumor that the Canadian Pacific has withdrawn its objections to the British Columbia Southern building a railroad through the Crow's Nest pass, and that consequently the construction of the road is likely to be proceeded with. It will be observed that the objection was not from the government, for the usual grant of money had been made. It was from the C. P. R., which has now been graciously pleased to withdraw its objection. This is one of the occasions in which circumstances alter cases. When the British Columbia Southern was first projected some years ago to run from Burrard Inlet through the Kootenay mining country to the Crow's Nest pass, the railway from Dunmore to Lethbridge was still in the hands of the Galt Company, and that company was applying for a charter to extend its line to meet the British Columbia Southern in the same pass. This would have given direct connection between the coal deposits in the pass and the silver and gold ores of Kootenay, and besides would have given Southern Alberta and British Columbia an independent line of railway to the Pacific and connected with the States, competing with the Canada Pacific. That was when the C. P. R. made its objections; and although the proposed roads would, in one stride, have put Canada in the front as a silver producing country, the objections of the C. P. R. were supported in parliament by the ministry and the line was not allowed to proceed. The Galt Company and the British Columbia Southern were not asking for any special favors either as to land grants, cash bonus or special privileges. All that they asked was the liberty of applying British capital in the development of an important part of this country; and the privilege was denied. This is one instance of how the C. P. R. has used its influence with the government to secure the development of the west. Since that time the Galt Company has been practically squeezed out of the railroad business in Canada, and the line from Dunmore to Lethbridge has become a part of the C. P. R. system. Now the C. P. R. has withdrawn its objections and the development of the country will be proceeded with, strictly of course along C. P. R. lines and for C. P. R. benefit. No doubt the road will be constructed and no doubt it will tend very greatly to develop the coal and silver industries along its course, but will anyone pretend that it will be as valuable to the country, forming part of the C. P. R. system, as it would have been in the hands of a competing company. In this case it is perfectly clear that the interests of the country have been sacrificed to the interests of the company. What has been done in the south in regard to the British Columbia Southern will certainly be repeated in the north with the Canada Western, which is projected to connect Vancouver Island, the gold mines of Cariboo and the fertile Saskatchewan valley by a direct railway line, if the people are not the alert and determined to protect their own interest. The theory that because the C. P. R. owns this country it is bound to do its utmost to advance its prosperity, might be a very good theory, provided the ownership is admitted. But there are a few people in the Northwest who claim some rights of ownership themselves and decline to admit that because a certain line of action is good for the C. P. R. it is therefore good for them. They believe that they and their interests have a right to be considered not only as well as, but before those of the C. P. R., and they totally object to the country being compelled to stand still until the C. P. R.

sees fit to allow it to move on. The difference of opinion is that they consider themselves the owners of the country, and the C. P. R. or any other railway company their servants; while the C. P. R. and the present government look upon the company as the sole owners of the country and the people as their servants, compelled to await their good pleasure.

CENSUS.

The census of the Territories recently taken by the mounted police does not clearly establish our right to additional representation in the house of commons, on a straight basis of population. But if the area and importance of the region to be represented is at all considered in conjunction with the representation given the adjoining province of British Columbia on like considerations, which were the considerations upon which the present representation of the Territories was based, a perfectly good case is made out for at least one additional member, which would give Northern Alberta the separate representation to which its population and importance entitle it. In any case the large increase of population in this end of Alberta has been established with the result of showing a glaring inequality in the representation of the different parts of the Territories that will scarcely bear criticism. The totals including Indians are: Alberta 35,115, East Assiniboia 25,507, Saskatchewan 13,450, West Assiniboia 11,779. The members for West Assiniboia and Saskatchewan together do not represent as many people as the member for East Assiniboia, and are nearly 10,000 short of as many as the member for Alberta represents. The population of Alberta is within a trifle of three times as great as that of Western Assiniboia, East Assiniboia has nearly twice as many as Saskatchewan, and Alberta more than two and a half times as many. Alberta has within 3200 of as many people as the largest and smallest of the constituencies together. The difference between the present population of Alberta and that which would entitle it to two members is about the same as that between Alberta and the next most populous constituency, Eastern Assiniboia. In view of the facts a readjustment of the representation of the Territories should certainly be made, for if the rule of population is to govern absolutely the Territories as a whole it should govern the constituencies of the Territories as well. But as Mr. Foster has announced that all important government measures for the session are now on the order paper it would appear that a readjustment is as little contemplated as an increase.

THE Free Press, Ottawa, telegrams of June 3rd, regarding exchequer court decisions says:

"Judgment was also given in the Queen vs. C. D. T. Becher and is in favor of the crown. Becher took out a homestead entry of a quarter of section 20 in the 24th range, township 52, Northwest Territories. It was claimed that the entry had been obtained after these lands had been withdrawn from settlement and that the entry had been taken by the agent in error. Becher refused to give up his property or possession of his patent. The court can- celled the patent."

There was a time in the history of Canada when a patent from the crown was unimpeachable title to land. That time is evidently gone by, for now the government repudiates at will patents granted in good faith by its duly accredited agents, even when no private rights of third parties are infringing upon; and the exchequer court—instituted to protect the rights of private citizens—backs it up in the repudiation. If patents to citizens can be cancelled at will because of a misunderstanding between the government and its agents, it is time we had a new government, new agents, new laws or new interpreters of the law. A general shaking up all around might result in bringing to light the rights of the citizen which at present seem to have got out of sight in the bottom of the basket.

THE Vancouver correspondent of the Winnipeg Commercial complains of dull times in the coast cities of the province while in the interior the mountains are yielding fabulous wealth, which however, owing to numerous causes benefits United States and not Canadian trade. The correspondent mentions several of these causes, but omits the chief cause which is that freights from Canadian wholesale trade and producing centres are higher than from competing centres in the United States. Was this the understanding when the people of Canada agreed to furnish the money to build the C.P.R. and how do the wholesalers of Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria as well as the farmers of Alberta like the situation, and what are they going to do about it when they get the opportunity? They know that the C. P. R. competes successfully under very great disadvantages in the United States for business. We want it to allow the farmers and traders of Canada to compete successfully in Canada for Canadian business; and until they can do so they will continue to think there is something wrong, notwithstanding the report of the railway commission,—the hiring of the government which is the servant of the company—to the contrary.

WETASKIWIN.

A large black bear was seen last week close to town. A posse started out, some on horseback and some on foot, to arrest the criminal, headed by our gallant mounted police. Some hunting dogs belonging to our photographers held and cornered bear and then it was found that the only shooting man among horse or foot was held by the cavalry, in the person of our M. P. Horse and foot charged while bear was playing affectionately with the dogs, our M. P. at the head. Don't shoot! Catch him alive! Rode him! cried the rest. But Bill, the roper, was a quarter of a mile away, and the bear, meanwhile judging that he was in too much bad company, retired leisurely through the bush, to the discomfiture and the salvation of his skin.

The Episcopalian church will be ready for use about Midsummer day, soon after which the dedication will take place.

Mr. and Mrs. Wabel, from Dried Meat lake, are staying at Mr. Gile's, and are taking up additional land here.

LEDUC.

Several families of Germans arrived on Monday's train. They intend locating southeast of here.

George Thompson is moving Telford's stable from its old stand to a lot on main street, west of his hotel, with a view of re-painting and fixing it up for use.

R. Vincent's blacksmith shop is now under rapid construction and will be completed in a few days.

Mr. Holt, of Ottawa, arrived on Monday's train and is awaiting an opportunity to proceed to Hubbell's survey party, where he is engaged as assistant.

R. T. Telford has resumed the lumber business here, and is making preparations for a big trade this summer.

Messrs. Knight & Stewart arrived from the south on Tuesday with about sixty head of horses. They are trading for cattle or selling for cash.

Geo. Thompson is doing some artistic painting on his hotel which adds considerably to the general appearance. The different colors being apple green and blue gray.

It is desired while Hubbell's party is here that they will not leave us without subdividing township 48 in range 26, as this particular township is within a few miles of Leduc. It should be attended to at once.

Crops are progressing rapidly since the recent showers.

GENERAL NEWS.

Charles Flint has applied for the right to divert sufficient water from the north fork of Fish creek, on section 21-22-3-5, Alberta, to irrigate about 120 acres on the south half of Section 21-22-3-5.

An order in council has been passed, fixing the regulations for irrigation canals: for the measurement and use of water; the disposal of reservoir sites and the right of way and the forms of licenses and certificates.

An Ottawa despatch to the Winnipeg Tribune says: It will be seen from these figures that the territories are not entitled to additional representation in parliament. They have not their full quota for four members. To 73,500 halfbreeds and whites, the Indian population added would give 86,800 in all. Every 22,900 is entitled to a member so that before the territories would be in excess of population for the present representation they would require to have over 90,000. To entitle them to additional representation they must have over 103,000.

Ottawa telegram of June 4 to the Winnipeg Nor'Wester: "At the request of the government, the Northwest mounted police have taken a special census of the Northwest territories in order to ascertain whether the increase of population would justify the requested additional representation in parliament. The figures show a remarkable accession in the number of inhabitants in western Canada since 1891, when the census of the Dominion was taken, but according to the basis of representation of 1891, the increase is not sufficient to entitle the territories to another member." As the Nor'Wester is a government organ, it may be taken for granted that a decision not to increase Northwest representation has been reached by the government.

Winnipeg Tribune: To a reporter of The Tribune a member of the local government said that he expected Hon. Mr. Sifton back about Wednesday. Contrary to Mr. Edwards' view, he did not see any reason to think that any advance had been made towards compromise. Indeed, his opinion was that matters are just as they were before the premier and the attorney-general left for the east. From present indications he did not think the legislature would again be postponed on June 13, but that a session would be held and the business put through. He saw no reason for any change in the attitude of the school question, and scotched the idea that there would be a dissolution, at an early date.

Free Press: The "justice" of requiring uniform qualifications from all who enter a profession after the enactment of a new law, may be clear enough; but there is a wide difference between applying this requirement to new-comers, and making the same exception of former occupants. This difference ought not to be ignored, when the heated discussion of separate schools brings forward the point of uniform certificates. The nuns as teachers, are usually specialists, whose ability to instruct in their own particular branches can hardly be questioned. It is to the interest of the superiors in charge to add lustre to the reputation of Catholic educational institutions, by securing the appointment of the most highly qualified specialists. Many of the nuns are educated accomplished women, passing lives of self-sacrifice; yet they might fail to work a problem in hydrostatics, or to win a high percentage in an examination in double-entry bookkeeping.

Winnipeg Tribune: Never before in the history of the country was wheat so cheap as when the last crop was marketed. It is doubtful if the price which the farmers obtained exceeded 40 cents a bushel on the average. The recent rapid rise has served in a large measure to tantalize the farmers, as but an infinitesimal proportion of them had any wheat to sell when the rise came, hence the increase so far from being any advantage to the country is a distinct loss, unless it is maintained until the present crop is harvested. The result of the rise has been to increase the price of flour to a very great extent and naturally to enhance the price of the loaf. In this city the number of loaves sold for a dollar has been reduced from 20 to 16 within the last two or three weeks. The price of flour has, we understand been put up throughout the country so that even the many farmers who, pinched by debt, felt obliged to sell their wheat at the ruinously low prices that prevailed last fall, are now obliged to pay the highest prevailing price for flour they require to tide them over till the present crop is gathered.

Winnipeg Commercial, June 1st: The continued advance in wheat has had a most important effect upon the business situation here. While Manitoba is not in a position to gain very much immediate advantage from the big advance in wheat, there being very little grain left in the country to sell, yet it is believed that prices will continue to hold up until the next crop is marketed. This prospect of much higher wheat prices for the next crop than has been obtained for the past two years, together with the splendid condition of the growing crop, makes the outlook very hopeful. It is reported that some parties are making contracts with farmers for their next wheat at 65c per bushel, this price being 25c per bushel higher than the price the bulk of the last crop was sold at. We do not believe, however, that very much contracting for wheat will be done in advance, and these reports from the country have probably originated through some misunderstandings. Bank clearings at Winnipeg continue to show a good increase over the corresponding time last year. Total clearings for May were $4,156,282 as compared with $3,455,639 for May of last year.

Free Press: It is rumored that the Canadian Pacific has withdrawn its objection to the British Columbia Southern building a road through Crow's Nest pass and that one of the directors of the latter company is now in New York negotiating with a syndicate to build the road. The British Columbia Southern has already been voted the Dominion subsidy of $3,200 a mile for thirty-two miles, and it is not improbable that the road will get the subsidy for the entire length says the Nelson Tribune. The charter calls for a road from the eastern boundary of British Columbia to a suitable terminus on Burrard inlet, to be built in three sections. The eastern section ends at Kootenay river, in East Kootenay; the centre section at a point on Kootenay lake, probably Pilot Bay; the western section, at any point on Burrard inlet. The eastern section must be constructed and equipped by December 31st, 1896, the central section, by December 31st 1897; and the western section by December 31st, 1898. Connection will be made at the eastern end with an extension of the Lethbridge branch of the Canadian Pacific, which is already graded. At Nelson connection will be made with the Nelson and Fort Sheppard, Spokane and being one of the objective points of the company. The building of this road will settle the fuel question, as the promoters of the company have coal fields along the eastern section.
